Beginning mid-July 2014 De Anza Commencement will be available on the college’s YouTube channel and as a free video download at De Anza’s iTunesU site: <http://deanza.edu/itunesu>.

Since 1981, De Anza’s Disability Support Services (DSS) program has provided sign language interpreting for Deaf and hard-of-hearing attendees. Sign language interpreters for today’s ceremony are Sheridan Laine and Holly David. The captioner is Karen Franco.

Access to live captioning on your smartphone, tablet or computer is available at www.deanza.edu/graduation.

Scholarship Awards

This year, hundreds of De Anza College students were awarded scholarships worth more than half a million dollars.

The President's Award, in the amount of $2,000, is presented annually to graduating students who have overcome significant adversity and shown great perseverance in seeking an education at De Anza.

Scholarship winner Ben Pacho discovered his passion for activism and social justice while at De Anza. "I became politicized through my experience of being a first-generation college student," Pacho said. "It became evident that struggles for socioeconomic betterment are political in nature."

In his quest to support change on campus, Pacho served as the DASB Chair of Student Services and opinions editor at La Voz. He interned at the Institute of Community and Civic Engagement and participated in the Public Policy School.

"I was not at all the kind of person to get 'involved'," said Pacho. "But after checking stuff out and meeting awesome people, I realized that I was part of a larger community."

Off campus, Pacho volunteered at the Billy DeFrank LGBT Center and the Living Wage Campaign to raise San Jose's minimum wage. The campaign was highly personal for Pacho, as he sometimes struggled to find enough work to put himself through college.

"I was determined to make life easier for working students like myself by advocating for the Living Wage Campaign," he added.

Pacho is graduating with an associate degree in journalism and the Leadership and Social Change certificate. In the fall, he will study political science at Columbia University in New York City. With his degree and experience, he hopes to one day influence public policy at the state and national level by advocating for educational and environmental issues. Although Pacho is moving across the country, he will always have fond memories of De Anza.

"The 'Inequality for All' film showing this year with the amazing panel discussion brought my affection for this campus to another level," Pacho said. "It highlighted the extent to which students, faculty and administrators at De Anza are committed to bringing about social change."

The A. Robert DeHart Memorial Scholarship, worth $2,000, is awarded each year in honor of the first president of De Anza College. DeHart served as president for 25 years, from the college's founding in 1967 until 1992.

Nicole Canete, this year's winner, spent her time at De Anza encouraging others to turn negative experiences into a strong and positive future. When she transfers to UC Berkeley in the fall, she will major in psychology and use those skills to continue helping people find their inner strength.

"Psychology is not a skill that is just used in one particular place, but rather it is used every day and in every relationship," Canete said. "Psychology has helped me to better understand myself as well as others around me."

Canete participated in many clubs and activities on and off campus. She is a tutor, volunteer babysitter for families in need and a volunteer at the Rape Crisis Center. She served as the media/public relations officer of the Psychology Club and was a member of Cross Cultural Partners, LGBTQIA Club and the Honors Club. She was also an assistant coach of the school cheer and dance team.

"Dancing was a passion of mine which helped me through some hard times," Canete added. "I believe that everyone needs an outlet and dancing was and still is mine."

Canete wants to help victims of rape and abuse find their own outlets for expression. She plans to attend graduate school to earn a joint Ph.D./J.D. degree. She also wants to start a camp where abuse victims can heal themselves through music, dance and art.

"The most important thing is to never give up on yourself," Canete said. "Be your biggest fan and others will soon follow suit."

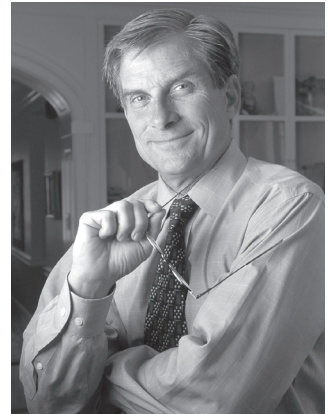

Commencement Speaker

William D. “Bro” Adams

William D. “Bro” Adams is U.S. President Barack Obama’s nominee to chair the National Endowment for the Humanities, a primary funder of cultural programs across the country. His confirmation by the U.S. Senate is pending.

Adams, the retiring president of Colby College in Maine, began serving in that role in 2000. From 1995 to 2000, he was president of Bucknell University in Pennsylvania and previously served as a vice president of Connecticut’s Wesleyan University. Earlier in his career, Adams was an instructor and program coordinator for the Great Works in Western Culture Program at Stanford University. He was also an instructor at Stanford and a visiting assistant professor in the political science departments of the University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill and Santa Clara University.

Adams served in the Army during the Vietnam War and was awarded the Bronze Star, among other honors. In 1977, he received a Fulbright Fellowship and conducted research at the École des Hautes Études en Sciences Sociales and École Normale Supérieure in Paris. Adams earned a bachelor’s degree summa cum laude in philosophy from Colorado College and a doctorate degree in political philosophy from the University of California, Santa Cruz.

He has served on a variety of nonprofit boards and published on topics of philosophy, culture, personal memoir and higher education. He is known as a dedicated supporter of the liberal arts. In addition to his focus on the humanities, Adams has advocated for higher education access and funding for middle-class and all students.

Student Leadership Awards

The annual Student Leadership Awards honor graduating students for their leadership on campus. The awards are sponsored by the Institute for Community and Civic Engagement (ICCE) and the De Anza Associated Student Body (DASB).

Academic Regalia

The academic costume worn today can be traced back to the European universities of the 12th and 13th centuries, where scholars and clerics wore hoods and robes to stay warm in unheated buildings. Use of the academic gown came to the United States in 1754 with the founding of what is now Columbia University. Until after the Civil War, students at most universities wore caps and gowns daily while in residence.

Academic dress consists of the cap, gown and hood. The mortarboard is a head-hugging cap topped with a square flat surface from which a tassel hangs. Styling of the gown varies according to the degree of the wearer. An associate's degree gown displays the college colors. A bachelor's degree holder wears a simple black gown with long, pointed sleeves. Those with a master's degree wear a more elaborate gown with slit openings in the sleeves. The doctoral gown has bell-shaped sleeves, velvet panels down the front and around the neck, and three velvet bars on each sleeve. In the hoods, the color of the velvet border indicates the type of degree held, while the color of the lining designates the official colors of the institution granting it.

Colors symbolizing academic areas of study are:

De Anza College Overview

De Anza College offers a broad range of academic and career programs, cultural activities, sports and social events to about 23,000 students each quarter. Students can earn associate degrees in 67 fields of study and 97 certificates of achievement. About 40,000 friends and neighbors participate in De Anza's Community Education programs each year, including noncredit Short Courses and the Extended Year Summer Enrichment Program for youth.

Students attending De Anza enjoy the full college experience. They can join a club or start a new one; walk through time at the California History Center; visit the stars at the Fujitsu Planetarium at De Anza College; explore the diversified ecosystems of the Cheeseman Environmental Study Area; exercise in the Lifetime Fitness and Wellness Center between classes; or participate on a sports team – there are plenty to choose from. An education at De Anza isn't just about books and tests; students also discover a diversity of people representing cultures from around the world and learn how to become fully engaged, politically aware citizens. The college's Institute of Community and Civic Engagement (ICCE) helps to advance this goal.

Learning at De Anza College happens in state-of-the-art facilities, many funded through voter-approved Measures E and C construction bonds. The college is committed to environmental sustainability in building design and operations.

De Anza consistently ranks at or near the top among California community colleges in the number of transfers to CSU and UC. De Anza's top transfer institutions include UC Berkeley, UC Santa Cruz, UC Davis and UC San Diego as well as San José State University and San Francisco State University.

Mission Statement

De Anza College provides an academically rich, multicultural learning environment that challenges students of every background to develop their intellect, character and abilities; to realize their goals; and to be socially responsible leaders in their communities, the nation and the world.

De Anza College fulfills its mission by engaging students in creative work that demonstrates the knowledge, skills and attitudes contained within the college's Institutional Core Competencies:

- Communication and expression
- Information literacy
- Physical/mental wellness and personal responsibility
- Civic capacity for global, cultural, social and environmental justice
- Critical thinking
